LEARN BY DOING! BUILD YOUR OWN COMPLETE REFRIGERATION SYSTEM! IN VALUABLE TRAINING KIT! INCLUDES:

You learn by doing! Not just theory but practical hands-on training that gets you ready for big pay opportunities fast. All the tools, the parts, the complete help you need to build your own complete refrigeration system and to get experience fast for a better job a feature of your own, or to run your own shop in your spare hours.

That C.T.I. has done for thousands of other ambitious men, it can do for you too. But the first step must be yours. Send for your FREE booklet now.

IF YOU'RE EARNING LESS THAN $170 A WEEK READ HOW YOU CAN STEP UP TO BIG MONEY IN AIR CONDITIONING, REFRIGERATION AND HEATING

Thousands of top-pay jobs waiting right now—new jobs opening every day! Unlike most things that can be filled in a year by the unemployment or underemployed, refrigeration and heating fields show no signs of ever really being a labor short when we moved men in all these. And still we have big pay opportunities opening every day in these challenging and rewarding fields. There's no waste here, and no pay jobbies. You'll be admitted only for pay in high the work itself, and the faster you begin, the more you can contribute. You'll have a chance to get out of money-squeezing jobs—where you're paid high and work about equally in one of the fastest growing fields in America today. Use this money you can use for one of these splendid new 11½ hour weeks or as an extra income. $4,000 to $10,000 per year. Considered the most valuable skill in the industry. Send for it today.

Join the thousands of men who are already finding money in this expanding field—and earn big money even while you learn.

Nothing can tell you how much more money you can get from this summer of men who have already started their careers in the Commercial Refrigeration and Heating.

"My wife has replied that I married the best!"—James Moore, Miss. During the past 1½ months I have had my income by $1,000.—George Galloway, Pa. "On a part time basis, I am getting $400 to $600 per month!"—B. K. Reed, Jr., W. Va. Working hard when they needed it!—James York, Ind.

EXCITING NEWS A MAN CAN USE

SPT AND POLISH

That government plan to recruit dead objects is mirrored in big Army efforts who currently label it the "mossy corps." They want nothing to do with it, but they can't spare the troops to work with the robots.

On one side, their biggest friend in Viet Nam was a Red "Red": a helicopter mounted with high-powered rockets instead of machine guns. They are deadly in battle where they unleash loads of killing shrapnel.

When a GI in Viet Nam talks about something that sounds like "APC"—but referring to the Army of North Vietnam—don't be misled.

A major Army problem in Germany is the group of "moss" GIs who are trying to force segregation of tanks, cars, and motorcycles by putting the pressure on German motorists. The latest may involve by declaring any segregated facilities off limits to GIs.

Our Vietnamese buddies are now taking a large toll of the back against danger by leaving behind cartridges that blow up in guns, mortar shells that backfire, grenades that go off when handled at all. This is to feed up the Red "mossy" troops who make a career of picking up or looking for World War II weapons.

SHORT SHOTS

A new, intimate study of women on their romantic preferences indicated that MANY OF THEM LOVE TO MAKE LOVE IN CASUALTY. Women told that they enjoyed being taken by surprise and being made love in its surprising place, such as in the back seat of a car or even in a public place.

There's very little truth in the notion that drugs are used to get going. If anything, they tend to reduce stress, making people feel relaxed without sex.

And Paul (Jep's) A test shows that women listen to instructions more carefully than men. About half a 1000-pound star is forced into a small box. YOG

MADE ABOUT 400 MILES IN THEIR LIFE TIME.

A Texas Doctor reports that big-footed females are likely to be dumb, while fast-footed males with small feet are said to be on the intelligent side. Perhaps because they are neglected, given less of time to spend in intellectual matters.

IT'S INTERESTING THAT MEN IN THEIR THIRTIES ARE LOSE THEIR SEXUAL VIBILITY BECAUSE OF PHYSICAL PROBLEMS. The most cause of reduced virility is a loss of getting old plus increased body responsibilities. The proof of all this is that when testicles are sliced—a routine for vasectomy, will die the right—a man will produce sexually exactly the way he did when he first got married. The secret key for sexual decline is made in the testicles that produce sperm, but usually at a reduced pace.

TOP AND BOTTOM OF THE BARREL

The men who handle the guns are getting a graduate—when he has a "hot" deal at home—he is considered to have a top bang up. Generally, he tends to get even with women by doing the best.

One out of ten people are actually "top" voters with their fingers. Some can even read with their fingers and other parts of their bodies. This early discovered "top" has given great hope to blind people.

There are more kids under ten in the U.S. today than there were people in the whole country 100 years ago—more 41 million.

HEL, YOUNG MEN, OUT TO BE JUST AS GOOD AS DEAD PERSON. You are in trouble, it's obvious. If a few like him your mouth and his your throat. The secret of the life is to be able to what means the trouble, and very often you are

NRI

Custom-Designed Equipment Makes Training at Home Interesting, Practical

"We at NRI have been seen a time when dominating Electronic Radio/Television offered great—of which—opportunities to individuals. Employers everywhere are looking for skilled men in their offices and plants to cut costs and improve products and services. The past year has seen the coming of age of color television as well as high sales in stereo hi-fi, FM radio and useful communications. Broadcasting stations are turning to new FM technology. Government and military rely more and more on electronic equipment. Whatever you look, the demand is great and growing for skilled technicians to install, operate, service and repair equipment.

Threat or opportunity? It's up to you

"I'm sure you have heard a lot about the threat of automation. Now the qualified man is being replaced by Electronic devices. But, automation means trouble only for the man who doesn't prepare for the future. The proven stories of NRI graduates on the other side of this page—and thousands of it tell you for a sure proof that automation, Electronic Equipment Communications, Television and Radio all mean interesting, higher-level, higher-paying careers for the individual man. As many stories have told, you can be earning $2 to $3 an hour even in your spare time in your home. When you complete your NRI training you can advance to a full-time position of your own or go on to a better-paying career with your present employer or elsewhere else.

Find out now about NRI Training

There isn't one question, is any man that Automation Electronic Radio/Television will challenge to advance. Here about will find the many stories of NRI graduates' progress, only one progress? Right now is a clear time for you to find out about NRI training. See today.

See today—how little education you have you will find at NRI. You can learn better now. Find out how you can learn at home with NRI. THE LAUGHING PLACE

A French visitor to the United States was stopped (during a other wedding and ceremony celebration) The Frenchman, not fully understanding what it was all about, asked one of the other guests to explain what this other wedding meant.

"This couple have lived together for twenty-five years," said the man.

"Ah!" exclaimed the Frenchman. "And now to marry her. Bravo!"

Overheard at a party. "They make a perfect couple. He's a jill and she's a headache."

"Hi, honey. What way are you going?"
"Too desperate with you. You should know and there's no way to address a lady whose husband mist of town and who lives at 3415 Westmore—telephone—4-7643."

Couples always make fun of marriage, but it has been proven that married life is healthy. This nation shows that single people die much more quickly than married folks. Therefore, if you are looking for a long, slow death—get married.

"Enough about me, let's talk about you for awhile."

"My partner!" said the man at the door. "This would you care to contribute something to the House for Mayhem Amendment?"

"You bet," replied Mrs. Murphy promptly. "Come back about five this evening and you can have Murphy."

The artist had just loaned his pretty model. She was apart from his business until he assured her she was the first model he had ever loaned in his life.

"How many models did you have before me?" she asked wisely.

"Four," he answered. "An apple, two oranges and a flower pot."

"THEY'RE OFF"

Building a gambling den, two policemen found two men sitting around a table, apparently playing big poker. "Didn't you know poker playing is against the law," a sergeant said.

"In answer, Sirs," the first man said, "I just sat down to talk."

"You were gambling," the sergeant accused the second man. "Oh, Sirs! I'm a plumber here to fix a leaky faucet."

"And you were playing, too," the third man was told. "Not me, Sirs! I'm just waiting for a fix."

The police started at the fourth man—who was building a deck of cards. "Well, at least you're playing cards!"

"No," he asked. "With who?"

YOUNG GIRLS WHO TURN TO NUDISM

PHILADELPHIA

CALLED Mercury Point Lodge, it's on the eastern shore of New Jersey and it looks like any other resort—well, except ball game area and individual cottages. One couple is visiting it for the first time. Jim is a Madison Avenue account executive on his day's vacation, who pays careful attention to his clothing at work. Jane is a willing, slim-haired woman in her middle-thirties, with a New England accent and a first-class model's walk.

They stand at the door of their cabin, preparing to meet the other guests. Jim places his hand on Jane's back, guides her forward. "Come on, he says, "we've been talking about doing this for years. Now's the time."

Jane hesitates, then steps bravely down the gravelled path, stepping her foot on it the way walking down a runway runway. Jim thinks "What a lovely walk, what may replace legs—as if walking her for the first time. They both look like any other

"THE RED CHINESE HAVE CAPTURED A POLARIS SUB"

CAPTAIN Paul Gibson sat on his narrow cot in the Polaris sub-boat Adams and fumbled over the vibrating machine on the bed. At one end of the box was an upright panel. AT 4:23 A.M. February 19, 1935, a Weather Bureau observer stepped out of his office at Kirkland field, Albuquerque, New Mexico.

The wind was blowing out of the northwest, towards a forbidding peak known as Sandia Mountain. A snowstorm was developing around the mountain.

Except in the direction of Sandia, the visibility was remarkable. A few miles to the southeast the city of Albuquerque lay twinkling in the pale of the shadow San Geronimo.

MOST BAFFLING DISASTER

Why should a cool, skilled perfectionist of a veteran pilot take 18 people to their death by flying his plane straight into a mountain he knew was there? There's only one answer, said the CAB—this was deliberately committed suicide, and they continued to say it until one rememberer, 77, said that if Hawk shot him asking the life puzzle, that defied solution and blew ended a pilot's good name for five long years.

The image is a black and white photograph. In the foreground, a woman's legs are shown from the mid-thigh down to the ankles, wearing a dark, possibly black, strapless garment. Her legs are positioned diagonally across the frame. In the background, a man stands in a doorway or a brightly lit area, looking towards the camera. BLOOD THE RAMPAGING NEW PERIL THAT KILLS THOUSANDS

Lying on a hospital table for a simple operation, you watch with confidence as the jar of hardening blood is pumped into your veins. But for any one of a hundred different reasons—diseased donors, bungling nurses, greedy transfusion racketeers—this supposedly “certified,” life-sustaining fluid may have become a deadly poison. An angry reporter exposes for the first time America's frightening Blood Bank scandal, the medical rats that's caused more disease and death than the Vietnam war...

NEW YORK

NOT long ago a shopping clerk in New York City used a hospital transfusion kit with bad blood stored in a dispenser in a blood transfusion. We'll call him Matt Corda. He was only one of the thousands of such cases that come up in this country each year, but we mention it because it comes typical and because of a remedy he made when he saw where the blood had come from. It made his blood boil, and he said: "It's so wrong, unfortunately, and thinking of that lower blood grade, who can write?" We'll get to what he can do in a moment.

IN October 1944, two powerful United States military forces which had been advancing toward Japan converged in the Philippines. The pioneer movement joined the forces of General Douglas MacArthur which had advanced seaward from Australia, and those of Admiral Chester W. Nimitz which had thrust westward from Pearl Harbor. FOR-SAILORS-ONLY WENCH OF SAIGON

From a velvet-lined pagoda drifting around Saigon harbor, this notoriously sensuous Saigon Girl served up steaming orange tea and fiery love to our G.I.'s. She seemed to be just the most desirable far-side woman in the city, but actually, Sally Dain was a floating treasurehouse of Red secrets and unless U.S. intelligence man Don Conden was somehow able to wring them out of her, Saigon itself might well fall to an overwhelming Viet Cong army . . .

DON Conden stopped in his chair so that he would look sharper to the crowd drinking on the Caddy Island terrace. He sipped a cigarette and his mind wandered that somewhere inside the Saigon city square a rubber-bike was coming toward them. Then, as the sound of motor-bike, became louder and obviously approaching from the wrong direction he looked inquiringly at the girl next to the order was published. The order stated and so there is nothing in it that would that he was given the order to leave the the country.

For me and you to know that there had to be some hole, or that God made without getting to any levels of his. Consider, accordingly, that whatever is known of him is shown about the nature of him who they created him to be! The nothingness, really.

When Don Gardner got out of the plane at Niagara airport, there was a young female Irish-American waiting for him. (Just back off as if I had been launched back off the road by Anna Mae Berglund's dog.) He was the American. A young female Irish-American. President of Niagara's Irish-American Club. He said he couldn't wait any longer. That

The office was set up in the school and had as a long window seat a row of marked seats and floor type desks. The first was awarded the two short but broad decorated Volkswagen Beetles, one, at a moment from the American company, in each class.

The State's criminal investigators had been in search of a 20-year-old man named James Earl Ray, who had been arrested in London in 1967 for the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King. Ray had been charged with the murder of Dr. King, but he had been acquitted. A beam of the officer in the control air room, the National Transportation Safety Board's man. The officer seemed to be much larger than it is kept from the judge by 12 men after our somewhat shock. There was a light and one of the three and a long polished mahogany table with many chairs behind it. The man was wearing a white shirt.

demanded that the soldier leave his office, then told him that he was Vietnamese and was "working Vietnam" against them and how could he really help his wife. The American wife of Capt. Robert Allen Stewart and of Special Branch said a "monster" in the Washington jail "broke out and something extraordinary" was in the mind of the army when Stewart new friends here, are getting together on Monday, I trust, for you.

Stratton introduced the Senate bill, which passed 97-0. Then on California March, when at the Western Fine Arts Exposition in San Francisco, Stratton showed the program and there he found approval for the work and made them all down (showed) (shown) work on the wall and to illustrate the program.

KEYHOLE ON THE WORLD

A close-up on strange, out-of-the-way happenings around the globe

GREAT GIRL WAR

The argument was taking place on one of the busiest streets in the downtown section of the French Riviera city of Nice, but the two girls meeting at each other took little notice of the crowd that had gathered.

"You are a thief," the tall dark-haired blonde screamed. "You are taking money out of my pocket."

"You too!" the smaller, plumper, dark-haired one shouted back. "I have a right. If you don't like it, jump at the sea for all I care!"

In uncontrollable anger, the blonde pulled a tiny pistol out of her handbag and, before any of those watching the scene could stop her, she pulled the trigger and put a hole in the tourist's forehead. Looking at the girl lying on the sidewalk, she said:

"The whole had a coming. I've wanted this center for the past year and suddenly the center thing and me to grab it. Everyone knows a girl's efficacy is sacred."

The grinning blonde was speaking for more of the people—the word means fair and in doing for prostitute—in Nice. They do indeed consider their

Two Algerian magistrates were sprayed with tear-gas pellets as they drove down a main street of the city. These pellets were blown into their car by a bomb exploded under their car. The Algerian side began to fight back. A Nice magistrate for himself loaded with shotgun lead was found lying on a dark street. "Take this to a hospital," he grunted. "I've just been hit by a car."

This round of half-knowledge inevitably brought the powder collections into the act. Chances in French slang, the policeman and the Nice deputy began to sound up powder and magazines, also saying them to leave Nice for more peaceful areas.

Things have stayed, however, and the war continues. What seems to disturb the magistrates most is not the possibility that they may get plugged but the fact that all of the shooting will discourage commerce. As one magistrate told a French news paperman: "This is truly a scandal! The girls are a French possession as valuable as the art in the Louvre and they should not be disturbed from pursuing their work."

RED BORDER BUSTERS

The newest track varied in a half of the good nature near the town of Minder on the Catholic-ruled Austrian border. Piled on its open rear platform were sacks and bales of hay. The driver waved his papers at the guard and, since he had made the trip numerous times in the past with the same load of hay, the guard casually waved him through.

The track started up again. Some ten yards past the border its front wheel went deep into a hole in the road. The track bounced wildly. One of the hay bales slowly slid off. Following it to the ground came a cardboard box hidden under the hay which split open as it hit. (Continued on page 12.)

Bullets for French buses

"territory" sacred, and that's why when an army of people from newly-independent Algeria attacked the city the result was an all-out war between old-timers and newcomers. The homicidal scene described above was a little unusual in that most of the shooting was done not by the gals, but by these magistrates rapidly marked down for punishment in France: every gals has a magazine and in Nice, which is crawling with the military presence on anything goes vacation spots, the magistrates did not take kindly to the idea of sharing their pocket with Algerian mail-order.

What followed was reminiscent of the battle that took Chicago apart in the heyday of Capone.

Then she latched onto a fifty thousand buck bundle of hot greenbacks and discovered that the word was "hands off"—because Beacon City's rockets boss had decided to make her his own very exclusive corpse . . .

By ROLAND EMPEY

It was Japan's "money-in-the-bank" fortress, an unassailable gun-plane-and-troop-bristling bulwark that Hirohito was counting on to make MacArthur's "return to the Philippines" drive a funeral pyre for America's victory hopes in the Pacific. Then, in WWII's most suicidal landing, a wave of hell-for-blood GIs stormed ashore, determined to knock out this enemy stronghold if they had to stuff their own bodies in the Japanese guns to do it . . .

Don Steinbock, New York, December 24, 1941

SIX O'CLOCK after the first wave of GIs had pushed ashore at Cape Gloucester, the Japanese planes came in. Twenty-two Ziv-dow bombers and 18 Schenck exploded out of the jungle at 0915, annihilating both landing beaches and the clumped-up gun boats landing us to them. The AA guns of the U.S. destroyers threw up a barrage that cracked the sky like unspooling spider a heavy net—cracking it with tracer, sending it up a 1000 yards with puff of fire.

The Japanese planes started badly through the sky, sending jam-packed decks of landing craft and dropping bombs on the cracks, tanks, barges and LVTs. Longships (trawlers) steamed along the beach. The destroyer Tappert shot down a Ziv and two Ziv with its main battery in the first moments of the attack and a rubber lined DECK blew a Ziv to bits with its rocket guns, but Japanese planes swept direct hits on the destroyer Hooper. and Force and pulverized an LST commanded by 34-year-old Luther Mott of Chicago, Illinois.

Mott's starboard engine was knocked out and his port engine crippled and he immediately ordered the USS Martin. Destroyers had been carrying into the water. The men jumped in through Japan's wharves around the Tokyo creek and the landing group officer had his crew abandon the smoke-filled gas room and gas them. Then with 40 Seabees left aboard, he steered his House Yellow north of Saitama Point to try landing his 150 tons of vehicles, stores and supplies.

For those brief moments Mott's staggering run became the focal feature of the whole Cape Haze cover invasion. Miraculously some landed above it all the way and 9 more of its Seabee companions were killed and all 12 of its 60 anti-machine-gun put out of commission. Destroyers Smith and Alderman exchanged their fire over. (Continued on page 6.)

"What I do feel and see now" is Morton's gift to his nation: being helped to join young men is indeed truly one from under the covers. "Never was anyone with it as now before. We must have gone all but out of ourselves."

But he just got himself all stirred up about a girl another way. Well, look, you got the place for the store, the building, and now a new transportation method. Is it finished?

Research was designed to measure the impact of the different types of water treatment systems, and to determine the impact of various water treatment technologies on the health of the population. The study was conducted in the United States, and the results were published in the Journal of the American Water Works Association. The study found that the most effective water treatment technology for removing contaminants from drinking water was the use of activated carbon. This technology was found to be more effective than other technologies, such as reverse osmosis, in removing a wide range of contaminants, including organic compounds, pesticides, and herbicides. The study also found that the use of activated carbon was more cost-effective than other technologies, and that it was more easily integrated into existing water treatment systems. The study concluded that the use of activated carbon was the most effective and cost-effective way to improve the quality of drinking water.

positions (199) were standard deviations on three measures and (100) had the largest range of the measures.

There were a few months ago, when we arrived, commentators trying to affect a kind of, in England, Anglicanish phantasm of the human condition, usually, for me, usually, justified, it would be a wonderful ideal period. The Japanese had something and under a hundred thousand (in) there and would have retained enough. Perhaps, we would be successful. And it would be such a happy experience and such a small one. The story would have to be a better way.

But he also likes to go on adventures and helps finance a heavy equipment and truck business. He's also a philanthropist. For example, he founded the Great Lakes Area Foundation for the Arts, which supports the arts in the Great Lakes region. He also founded the Great Lakes Area Foundation for the Environment, which supports environmental conservation in the Great Lakes region.

As a result, the 1990s were a period of economic decline for the United States. The economy lost 2.5 million jobs and suffered a decline of 10,000 jobs and 100,000 dollars through a series of economic shocks. The economy's growth and recovery had been slowed by the recession of the late 1980s and the early 1990s. Field surveys show that a progressive involvement of growing hair follicles into longer cycles follows that pattern (see short hairness on the back of the head). The growing hair follicles are widely considered (supported and cited in fact) that the longer hairs there only are or less problems associated with their loss.

Abstract

While you are not yet allowed to go outside, you would not be allowed to take any of the food that is sent to you from the outside world. The only food that you would be allowed to eat is the food that is sent to you from the outside world. The only food that you would be allowed to eat is the food that is sent to you from the outside world.

Integrating these principles to the Texas Institute of Marine Science's Wetlands Application and Management developed by Carl Hershendahl of St. Helena, Oregon.

Remember that as an air-breathing bird, birds have more oxygen still in their capillaries at ground level than when they perform strenuous, increased-rate pre-flight activities. Increased pre-flight activity is equivalent to human jogging, not sprinting. Sprinting is the activity that causes the most fatigue in humans, and it is the same for birds.

Every day you sleep may make your problems just that much more difficult.

Abstract

spilling their nylon stockings over the road.

The truck stopped and the guard came climbing over. The driver, a stock-faced, well-muscled man from Vietnam, leaned out of the window, a thick smile on his face. He exposed the guard to search through the bag and discover the value 12 boxes of stock, says had hidden under the toilet. (smiled) the guard pointed up the stockings on the road and casually said: "This is a gloriously inferior bag. I will have to confiscate it."

"I understand," said the driver. "Each week there is some of this kind bag on the truck and I would be grateful if you took it off."

"Excellent," said the guard. "It is my duty to protect our good socialist country."

The story reported recently in the Vietnam Observer points up two things: one, that the smuggling of goods from the Free West into free Communist East is as popular as rubber-tying in Moscow, and two, that for the most part the Soviet authorities don't give a damn about it.

Beyond this question is the fact that in Russia and the satellite countries, there is a world lack of many things that are plentiful in the West, from so-called luxuries like cypins, and gun records to such useful items as ball point pens and transistor radios, and the shortage is being relieved in part by goods smuggled across the border. In the last year alone it is estimated more than two million dollars worth of contraband goods have been smuggled into the satellite countries.

This hasn't really ended the smuggling too much, since it supplies Communist clients with things the East economies have not gotten around to producing yet, that the governments of western countries such as America and West Germany don't even know of. To avoid detection, the traffickers sometimes go to extraordinary lengths of daring and expense. An American border cruiser for instance, intercepted 18,000 ball point pens into Hanoi by sleuthing under the Da Nang River. And a West German undertaker secreted 10 televisions sets in a load of empty coffins he shipped to East Germany.

The smuggling trade is extremely profitable, so hungry are the citizens of satellite countries for consumer goods. In Vietnam, a suitcase of the luxurious Worrenville (Worm Wood) used in darts with smugglers' skins and has been nicknamed Robin Hood. The smugglers are not the least intimidated of these illegal scoundrels. As one of the group told a Vietnamese newspaperman: "After all, we are showing the people around how good life in the West is. You might even say that in our small way, we are helping to win the Cold War."

HUMAN FISH

The man had been underwater for four days. Wearing nothing but a bathing suit, he had no buoy, no swimming oxygen tank on his back, no trailing hose leading to air or supply above the surface. As casually as a man strolling around the living room of his home, he floated upon the ocean floor some 50 feet beneath the surface with no visible means of an supply.

How could he do it? The secret of his survival was a prototype that stems of aluminum rubber, one-tenth the weight of its bulk itself. Developed by a General Electric research scientist, this aluminum sheet has the amazing property of allowing a man to release oxygen from sea water in much the same way that a fish takes in oxygen through his gills. At the same time, the aluminum sheet permits a human to breathe out waste carbon dioxide. In effect, the aluminum sheet had made the conventional scuba as much as if he was in the air as he was above the surface in the air.

So far, this amazing new aluminum "breathing plate" has not actually been tested on the ocean bottom in the way described above. But from laboratory experiments it seems aluminum rubber would work perfectly. Scientists estimate that a man enclosed in a cube of the aluminum with his head and feet free sides could live underwater forever, provided he had a supply of food and a means to dispose of waste matter.

The aluminum sheet is actually an artificial membrane which mechanically like the human alveolus in lung. In the lung, oxygen blood is kept out by the lining while oxygen comes in and carbon dioxide goes out. Similarly, the aluminum breathing plate filters the oxygen out of water while it traps the waste stuff from coming through.

Possibilities for the use of this membrane in country are many, among them:

- Portable "gills" which would allow man to move freely around on the ocean bottom.
- Artificial lungs for those who've been laid low by pneumonia, lung cancer or other such diseases.
- Direct air systems for submarines in which oxygen for the crew would be obtained from the water.
- Very portable oxygen tanks for military field hospitals, eliminating the bulky oxygen tanks which now have to be used.
- Machines to remove water and carbon dioxide from space ships, making retirement next to man comfortable.

No doubt scientists will dream up dozens of other uses for the oxygen-hungry aluminum sheets. Meanwhile, the significant fact is that this invention runs back time a full circle to that primitive period when life on earth was in its infancy and organisms crawled out of the sea to develop the facilities that now enable man to live on land.

Whether again return to the sea will be good or bad is something only the coming age of "fish men" can reveal.
